OFFICIAL RANK AND DIGNITY OF A PILOT. THB RISE AND DECADENCE OF THE PILOTS ASSOCIATION. In my preceding articles I have tried, by going into the minutiae of the science of piloting, to carry the reader step by step to a comprehension of what the science consists of; and at the same time I have tried to show him that it is a very curious and wonderful science, too, and very worthy of his attention. If I have seemed to love my subject, it is no surprising thing, for I loved the profession far better than any I have followed since, and I took a measureless pride in it. The reason is plain: a pilot in those days, was the only unfettered and entirely independent human being that lived in the earth. Kings are but the hampered servants of parliament and people; parliaments Bit in chains forged by their constituency; the editor of a newspaper cannot be independent, bat must work with one hand tied behind him by party and patrons, and be content to utter only half or two-thirds of his mind; no clergyman is a free man and may speak the whole truth, regardless of his parish s opinion; writers of all kinds are manacled servants of the public. We write frankly and fearlessly, but then we modify before we print. In truth, ever man and woman and child has a master, and worries and frets in servitude; but in the...
