By Miles Waggener

Pinyon Publishing, United States, 2011. Paperback. Book Condition: New. New.. 231 x 185 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . One might slip into a cave without a torch and imagine a language of foot scuttle and wing whinny, imagine that one must make from these consonants and vowels a lyric, a metaphysics-such is the poetry of Miles Waggener-hermetic, intentional, and of great necessity. - SANDRA ALCOSSER, Author of A Fish to Feed All Hunger and Except by Nature Sky Harbor is the name of Phoenix, Arizona s international airport, through whose automatic sliding doors-at one point in this fabulous collection of the same name-a sparrow flies. The human-constructed and the unconstructed abut constantly in Miles Waggener s second full-length collection, wherein collisions between desert landscape and air-conditioned condominium developments form a stimulating dynamic, and an indelible backdrop on which the poet s major concerns-memory, the land s impression on the psyche, logos, spiritual longing-unfold, to distinct and brilliant consequence. When all the clique-ish whisperings cease, we will come to poetry like Miles Waggener s Sky Harbor to regain a sense of what the genre can truly do. Rigorous and rewarding, brimful of craft and passion,...
